

Nebo Youth Philharmonic Orchestra Christmas Concert By Haleigh Brown

On December 6, 2012, at Salem Hills High School the Nebo Youth Philharmonic Orchestra performed. This Christmas concert included both traditional and nontraditional songs. The philharmonic is a mixture of orchestra and band students from all over the district who meet once a week at Spanish Fork High School. This group is for students in high school or 9th grade orchestra or band. The concert on the sixth was about an hour long, but extra time was added because of the meeting held after the concert. The meeting was placed to discuss the upcoming tour that will take place summer 2013.

Every three years the philharmonic goes on tour and this upcoming summer they will be traveling. This year the philharmonic has three students from Salem junior High- Abby Brown, Colton Wilding, and Haleigh Brown. In their most recent concert the philharmonic orchestra played the following songs- "Winter Wonderland", "Farandole", "A Vaughn Williams Christmas", "A Bach Christmas", "A Polar Express Medley", "I Wonder as I Wander", and selections from "Messiah". The Nebo Youth Philharmonic Orchestra is currently working on songs to perform at, Abravanel hall, their junior high tour, and their upcoming concert.
